Investing Successfully – Back to Basics

with Michael Chamberlain

Successful investment outcomes stem from having the right investment strategy and implementing it cost and tax effectively. Your investment strategy should reflect the reasons why you are investing and your willingness to experience ups and downs along the way. This seminar will go back to the basics, to help you choose the investment strategy right for your needs.

Investment consultant and actuary Michael Chamberlain will share his views on how you turn investment theory into practical outcomes and avoid the temptation to chase returns.

Michael will also provide an update on the current investment markets, and the investment challenges and outlook for the next 12 months.
